

— Pillars of power

Power is the ability to act.

Power is the ability to get results.

Power is the ability to annihilate unwanted default futures.

Power doesn't want.

It deals with.

There is no daylight between power and a chosen result.

Most people don't have a lot of power because they haven't built a foundation in which power can exist.

The pillars of power are as follows:

1. Relentless hunger
2. Drive
3. Endurance
4. Intellectual firepower
5. Strong energy
6. Unreasonableness
7. Low neuroticism
8. High realism
9. Exceptionally high stress tolerance
10. Integrity
11. Strong posture
12. Ability to hold frame
13. Ability to observe and duplicate
14. Ability to focus
15. Ability to knock down targets
16. Endgame clarity

It's vital to acknowledge that wanting, thinking about, or trying to figure out pillars of power won't produce power.

They have to be created.

— Dusan Djukich