

— The foundational pillars of adulthood

The foundational pillars of adulthood are integrity and discipline.

Adults do what they don't feel like doing.

Adulthood is being radically honest with yourself.

Adulthood is acting without motivation.

Adulthood is acting in spite of discomfort.

Adulthood is acting in spite of tiredness.

Adulthood is acting in spite of environmental counter-influences.

Adulthood is acting in spite of disagreement.

Adulthood is being true to your endgame.

Adulthood is a consistent demonstration of unreasonableness.

Adulthood is not having to be pulled, dragged, or inspired.

Adulthood is not bowing to your case.

Adulthood is not going weak in the presence of adversity.

Adulthood is holding frame for commitments until they're realized.

Adulthood is unrelenting drive.

Adulthood is honoring agreements.

Adulthood is endurance.

— Dusan Djukich